MUSIC

DAY

#HEALTHEMUSIC

THE PROBLEM

Most music makers have no safety net.

76%

of people making a living in music are self-employed or part of a small business with no access to health benefits.

WHO BENEFITS

Artists, songwriters, producers, audio engineers, musicians, publishers, and many others who need access to healthcare and mental health care.

YOUR IMPACT

$1 = $30

Every dollar you give provides $30 in life-saving healthcare resources for music makers everywhere.

And the best part: you don't have to do anything you're not already doing.

#HEALTHMUSIC

14 years. Real lives changed.

WHAT THEY'RE SAYING

The work that Music Health Alliance is doing on behalf of the music community is incredible. They are on the front line advocating for people like my band members, our crew, team members, and our families.

In this nation, too many people are underinsured, uninsured, or have no idea how to navigate healthcare access. People who work in the music industry, especially those in bands or in road crews, know this well. Music Health Alliance fills this need for healthcare access to the people who work hard to make the music you love.

CHRIS CARRABBA

In the world of the working musician, good health is something most of us take for granted, that is, until something goes wrong. Your support of #HealTheMusic Day helps ensure that no one in the music community must ever choose between food and medicine again.
